

The Woodinville Weekly, October 6, 2008

City considers best approach to emergency management

By Jeanette Knutson Staff Writer

“Last week the Woodinville City Council had a discussion about emergency preparedness...

“...Some cities rely on Citizen Corps organizations to coordinate volunteer efforts and provide community emergency response team (CERT) training, amongst other things. The Carnation-Duvall Citizen Corps is an example of a very active community organization focused on emergency response. ...”